

Spontaneous Materials

8505 E. Temple Drive, #474
Denver, CO 80237 USA

Press Release

New Editor for The Magnet Industry Newsletter

Denver, CO (December 9, 2019) Effective January 1, 2020, Stan Trout from Spontaneous Materials will become the Editor of The Magnet Industry Newsletter, taking over this responsibility from its founding Editor, Walt Benecki.

Walt began the Magnet Industry Newsletter in 2016 as a service to keep members of the magnet community up to date with news and views regarding the permanent magnet industry. The newsletter has been very successful with subscribers all over the globe.

Walt noted, "I wish to acknowledge the loyalty of all our subscribers over the past few years. Their ongoing support is what has made the Magnet Industry Newsletter successful. John Ormerod, Steve Constantinides and I will all continue as a Contributing Editors. Our team is dedicated to maintaining the highest standards for the Magnet Industry Newsletter, and I'm confident that, under Stan's leadership, you can expect to see an even better Newsletter moving forward."

"I am very honored and humbled to be taking over what I have always called "Walt's Newsletter", and I am grateful that I will be able to count on Walt's assistance going forward," said Dr. Trout. "I look forward to the challenge of keeping our readership current in an industry well known for occasional sudden changes," he added.

Spontaneous Materials has operated since 2001 as a resource for clients with technical problems concerning the rare earths and magnetic materials.

Walter T. Benecki LLC's primary consultation services include assistance with acquisitions, dispositions, joint ventures and strategic alliances within the global permanent magnet community.

Contact:
Dr. Stan Trout
+1-303-955-8537 or +1-317-514-5920
st trout@ieee.org
www.spontaneousmaterials.com

#####